Terminology:

Quarter bound refers to the spine covering. It extends approximately one quarter the width of the covers. Half bound normally indicates that the corners are covered in the same material as is the spine. Full means that the entire book is covered in the same material. Full grain leather is leather that has retained its natural texture. Limp and Semi Limp refer to the covers. A true limp binding is one in which the cover is entirely leather ie there is no board component. Limp bindings often wrap around the entire inner of the book.
